MEET THE COYOTE SERIES

Reliable equipment, backed by the Roadrunner name

At Roadrunner Manufacturing, everything we do is built on one principle – gear that works hard, lasts longer, and stands up to real-world conditions.

Our 100% New Zealand made range has earned its place on that reputation, designed and built to handle the demands of the environments our customers operate in every day.

The Coyote Series has been developed to further build on that foundation.

Developed to work alongside our NZ-made products, the imported range of Coyote Series products introduce a cost-effective range of equipment without losing sight of what matters most:

- ☒ Reliability
- ☒ Durability
- ☒ Getting the job done

Every product has been carefully selected to meet the standards our customers expect when it's put to work in the field and on the open road.

More options, without compromising what matters

This isn't about replacing our NZ-built gear, it's about giving you more options

Whether it's for:

- ☒ Fleet expansion
- ☒ Specific applications
- ☒ Finding a more cost-effective option

The Coyote Series provides a dependable alternative that still carries the backing of the Roadrunner name.

Built for purpose and ready to get to work, the Coyote Series delivers where it counts.

And like everything we stand behind, it's supported by the same team, the same service, and the same commitment to keeping your operation moving.
